MANY FRIENDS — Exchanging 1955 Caldrons for autographs on the historic Center Stairs are Glenn Talley, Miss Lebamoff, James King, Deanna Cook, Pat Deihl, and Kathleen Gomoll.

FRIENDSHIPS are here waiting for me. Activities invite me. All year 'round school events fill my life. And sports thrill me, showing me Central spirit at a high level. I am proud to find a place in our "little democracy," in the many clubs, in a whirl of dances and fun, and in the world of high school sports. This is my school, and I have a place in it.

NOEL! NOEL!—During the Christmas season, the Choir fills the halls with joyful song. It makes us feel that we belong here.

. . . And I Have a Place in It

HELPING OUT—Barney Bell holds the ladder for Barbara Lehman while David Phillips and DonEtte Bushaw put up decorations for the speech dance. October 14.

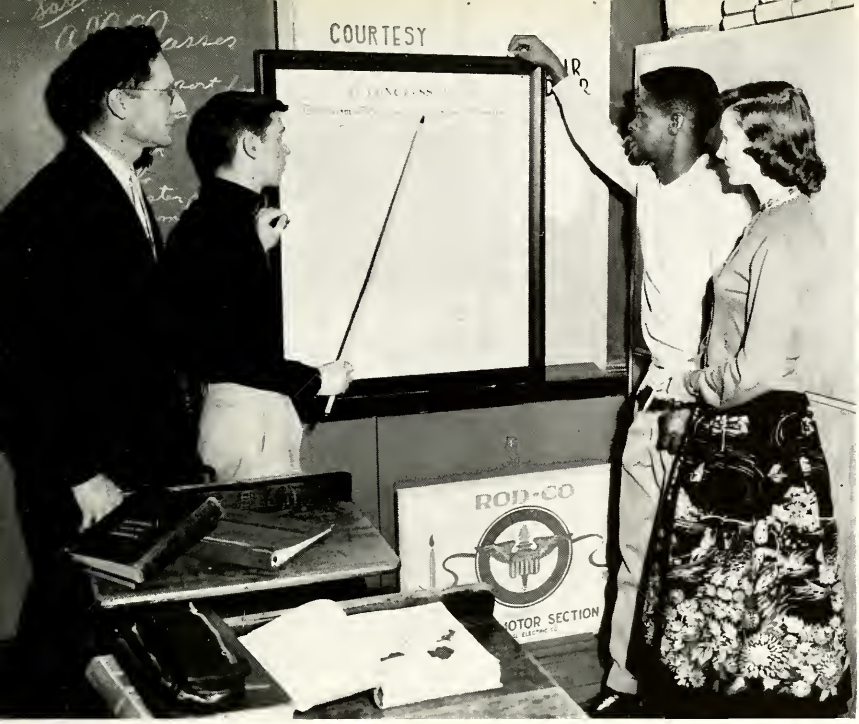
BIG GAME—Central beats Concordia! John Kelso reaches high trying to outreach a Concordia man for a basket while others prepare for the rebound.

. . . a Great School of Happy Memories

KNOWLEDGE, a storehouse of it, waits for me at Central. Honors challenge me to excel, to learn, to serve. Teachers inspire me. Traditions guide me. So I find my place in classrooms, in honor groups, in a happy life of growth at Central High.

HIGH HONORS—Dean Meribah Ingham is proudly presenting Best Citizens Mary Hemphill and David Beer with their National Honor Society pins and their Doenges Citizenship Cup.

QUEEN—A tradition, the loveliest of the year, is the crowning of the Junior Prom Queen. Here Carol Carpenter, 1954 queen, crowns Deanna Cook, chosen to reign in 1955.



GAIN CONCEPTS—Mr. Kelley, Seldum Shields, Jerry Chapman, and Carolyn Perry study the philosophical concepts of the Declaration of Independence.

FINDING FACTS — Jim Maharrey delves into facts about the Declaration in library research.

HOME AGAIN—"This is my school" indeed for these Centralites who were pupils once and now are teachers in this "old school." These young teachers reminisce with their teacher of high school days. Miss Rosza Tonkel, who stimulated and inspired these Centralites before and after their graduation. Standing are Mr. Armstrong, Mr. Mendenhall, and seated are Miss Standish, Miss Tonkel, and Mrs. Huntley.

MORE GOES ON HERE!

School Days! Things Really Happen

INDIAN CAPTURED — The tiger here catches the North Side Indian, symbolizing our coming victory over the Redskins. Jack Barker, is the Tiger, and Larry Carl, the Indian. The scene is the Junior Pep Session at Christmas time. The girls are Christmas dolls, of course.

HOW WELL I remember those dreamy moments at the Junior Prom, with all the girls in beautiful formals and all the boys in their new suits! It was really a heavenly sight. And then I remember the Freshman Party, so much fun with talent stunts and refreshments, and the Sophomore Carnival, quite an event with ice cream, shows, cake walks, and lots of laughs. With a rush comes the end of the year, bringing to me Recognition Day, Letter Day, and Distribution Day. These many events, punctuating the school year and enlivening my school life, teach me to live with other people and make me feel a part of Central. These events are mine and I have a place in them.

Events

QUEEN DEANNA

'Melodic Mirage'

COUPLES WHO attended the 1955 Junior Prom "Melodic Mirage" danced through a glade of tall blue trees to the music of Woody Neff and his Orchestra. The trees were of two shades of blue with sparkling light, blue petals and blue and silver flowers. Around the trees were white benches which gave the cafeteria a scenic park effect. Queen Deanna Cook was crowned by Carol Carpenter, 1954 queen. Miss Cheryl Dornte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dornte, was crown bearer. The attendants of Queen Deanna were dressed in pastel shades of yellow, green, pink, lavender, and blue formals. Their bouquets were made up of daisies surrounding carnations of the same color as their formals. Queen Deanna's nosegay was made of white daisies around a red carnation. Her crown was made of white broken carnations with white tulle filling it out. The crown was built like a tiara to give a regal effect. The band room was turned into a terrace, where refreshments were served. A white trellis with light blue crepe paper made an effective background. Peach, white, mint green, and powder-blue paper flowers adorned the cresses of the trellis. The coronation ceremony was timed for 10 o'clock. As Don Biddle, class president, called the attendants' names, each girl floated dreamily down the aisle to the queen's throne. Following the coronation, the Grand March began for the 400 couples attending. Janet Shook and Shirley Shroyer, two attendants, gave out the programs. On Sunday morning 27 loyal juniors, willing to lose sleep, came at 9 o'clock to take down the decorations.

Hurry! Fun and Frolic on the Midway

"HURRY! HURRY! Step right up! A dime a chance!" So cries Dave Fox, senior barker, while Sharon Elliott and Ellen Genda sell tickets for the cake walk.

"COME ONE, come all, to the Merry Midway! Games, fun, and play for all, at the Sophomore Carnival." So went the cry at the Merry Midway on March 11, 1955. One of the main attractions of the carnival was a booth called "The Telegraph Message Booth," the object of which was to put messages over a loud speaker system to someone by someone. Some of the other features were the "Dishwasher Delight," "The Sponge Throw," "Cake Walk," "Shave the Balloon," "Dart Toss," and many more. The object of the Carnival is to raise money for the Caldron pages, the Junior Prom, and other projects. Each home room planned and operated one unit of the carnival. Mr. Lee Bushong and Mrs. Ruth Chausse were advisors for the Sophomore Carnival. The class president was Raymond Sylvester.

Peppy! We're Tiger Cats!

"WELL, TWIRL my turban, man alive, here come Banet and his Tiger five!" Cheers like this one and many others were heard during this year's football and basketball season. The Boosters presented their annual Valentine Pep Session with the Tiger Brothers' Circus as the theme. The traditional boxes of candy were given out with pride to the outstanding basketball, track, and football boys. Our teachers came out with a fascinating tourney pep session. These sessions would not be the same without the band and the cheerleaders. They help build up the student body's and the team's morale. The Cheering Block, under the direction of Miss Connie Standish, made appearances at the pep sessions and at the games. Math Club gave their first pep session which went over with a "bang." Many of the clubs and classes participated and gave us gay moments to remember.

RUFFIANS GET "BAWLING OUT" — Shirley Shroyer, as Ann Rutledge, in the play "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," lays down the law to Fred Meeks, as Jack Armstrong, leader of a band of ruffians, in the presence of Byron Canaan, as Judge Bowling Greene; Jan Stine, as Ninian Edwards; Walt Schroeder, as Ben Mattley; Steve Rydell, as Jasp; and Bill Griffith, as Bab.

Let's Go! Lights, Places, Curtain!

"LIGHTS, PLACES, curtain" are the familiar words to actors and actresses as they prepare to give a play before a student audience of Central. "Mr. Peepers," was portrayed by Jan Stine, a young bashful teacher of Jefferson High who was afraid to ask the school nurse, Miss Remington, Shirley Shroyer, to a dance. He did not know how to deal with two rich teen-age sisters, and didn't appreciate Miss Hennessy's cookies. Mr. Peepers finally got up enough nerve to ask the school nurse for a dance, learned how to deal with the rich teen-age sisters, got to appreciate Miss Hennessy's cookies, and learned at last to overcome his bashfulness. "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," was February 28, about how the people in his small town, with their influence persuaded Abe, as Jack Ebersole, to run for the state legislature. In the play "A Man Called Peter," April 20 and 21, Jack Ebersole, portrayed Peter Marshall, a man who struggled along the road of life as a minister and helped young boys and girls and men and women alike get adjusted socially. Also the play showed the incidents leading up to Marshall's nomination and appointment as Chaplain of the United States Senate. All of the students at Central really enjoyed the scenes of suspense, of gay comedy, of heartbreaking sorrow, and of solemn mystery during the plays of the year. Long hours of rehearsal, days of stage planning, and weeks of instruction added to a season of excellent dramatics.

"Well . . . it's like this, Roby," says Shirley Shroyer to Jan Stine, as they take part in "Mr. Peepers," the Sophomore Class play, Oct. 20, 21.

Judge Bowling Greene, Byron Canaan, and Ninian Edwards, Jan Stine, chat with pretty Miss Ann Rutledge, Shirley Shroyer, in the play "Abe Lincoln in Illinois."

Ruffian Jack Armstrong, Fred Meeks, roughs up Bob Deck, Trum Cogdall, while Bill Knepper, Bill Griffith, and Walt Shroeder prepare for action.

Mr. Peepers "blows his top" while standing astonished are Janet Case, Jo Sommers, and Byron Canaan.

Songs, Laughs, Fun!

FILLED WITH many memories of Central, the hilarious musical speech vaudeville "Video Varieties." March 26, 1955, is one of the best two-hour entertainments of the year. Music in the air, western ballads, classic and modern music floating everywhere with a variety of tap and ballet routines, and comedy pantomime provided a big package of entertainment. The spotlight was also flashed upon the piano, trombone, accordion, and violin solos. The crowning of the queen, Carol Carpenter, rounded out the program.

VAUDEVILLE FUN! Top: Mr. McFadden introduces Miss Patricia Fisher, student teacher, as director of the vaudeville and Bud Dixon as master of ceremonies.

RIGHT: Tom Richards, Satch Gatchell, Dave Shearer, Henry Price, and Phil Reiterman gaily dance as a Senior Boys' Circus Act.

'Rock Around Record'

"SEE You Later, Alligator!" This fast tune was heard many times at Central's dances this past year. The dances are sponsored by different clubs and organizations in school to provide entertainment after hot basketball or football games. Some of the dances this year were "Mistle-toe Madness," "Autumn Leaves," and the "Bi-Fi Hop." When the Hi-Fi System was introduced at the "Jinx Jump," a record crowd turned out to hear it.

Big Pendulum Swings, Theory Proved

Richard Campton and Jack Diem are pouring lead into the top half of the pendulum bob, the shell for which is two steel mixing bowls.

TIME MARCHES on as the Faucault Pendulum swings back and forth in the center of Central's activities. Though it looks much like a metal beachball on a string, the pendulum requires a one-eighth inch wire to suspend it safely. At this latitude, North 41 degrees and 4 minutes, the Pendulum seems to turn through an angle of 9 degrees and 51 minutes each hour. The bob on this pendulum, weighing 619 pounds, was made in our machine shop in the spring of 1955. The Faucault Pendulum is visual proof of the earth's rotation. The vertical plane in which the pendulum swings appears to rotate in a clockwise direction. Actually this plane remains fixed. The apparent rotation is due to the rotation of the earth underneath the point at which the pendulum is suspended above.

Something new! Mr. Kenneth Yager, Conrad Wilcoxson, and Mr. Ralph O. Virts examine the wire for suspension of our new pendulum.

On the stairs watching the mysterious swing of the bob are, "Satch" Gatchel, Skip Rasor, Mike Schenerman, Al Fry, Dave Fox, Virginia Graft, Wally Bonham, Janet Gieseking, and Beverly Zimmerman and, standing around the pendulum, Max Hathaway, Bonnie Betley, Donna Green, and Jnne Graft.

LEFT: Gloria Jean Smith, editor, presents to Mr. Virts, Mr. Spuller, and Miss Ingham their brand new 1955 Caldrons on Distribution Day, May 1955. RIGHT: Mr. Joseph Fuget, a representative of Valley Forge Freedom Foundation, is giving the history of one of the state flags to Al Miller, Dick Walters, and other history pupils.

Lots of Things Happen, No Two Years Alike Here

CHEST X-RAY, hot chocolate machines, 1956 automobiles, Caldron Distribution Day, the Christmas basket program, and many other exciting features of the year helped in making 1955-56 different from all other years. Class elections, music and speech contests, and noon-hour dancing in the gym are other things to be remembered. The Freedom Foundation held a display of the states' flags and Mr. Quaker, Mr. Val Gould of Quaker Oats Company, inspired the student body with "A Man Without A Country." No two years are the same at Central.

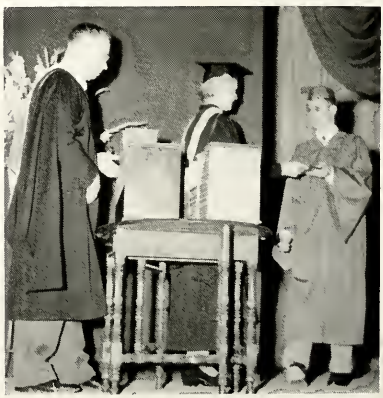
LEFT: Pupils get their check-up for tuberculosis in the Allen County Mobile Truck. MIDDLE: Student Council presents Byron Canaan, as Santa Claus, and his helpers, Mike Altekruse and Jack Greene, who wish the faculty and student body a Merry Christmas. RIGHT: Mr. Van Gould as Mr. Quaker gives his dramatic and patriotic version of "Man Without a Country."

Mary Hemphill, Best Girl Citizen, delivers her farewell address to the Honor Court, student body, and faculty on Recognition Day, June 3, 1955.

Seniors Step Forward, Face Future

FLOWING gray gowns and flat mortar board hats were everywhere the last week of school. All of the underclassmen looked with envy as the seniors paraded through the school. But little did they realize that the seniors were looking at the freshmen and remembering their own freshman days. An air of excitement stimulated our seniors. Some were overjoyed when they received their pins, letters, sweaters, and trophies on Recognition Day. Mary Hemphill, chosen as Best Girl Citizen, gave a "farewell" speech to the school at this beautiful occasion. And after Recognition Day came Commencement Day, June 8.

Mr. Virts, dean of boys, and Miss Ingham, dean of girls, proudly present a diploma representing four happy and full years, to John Bowman on Commencement Day, June 8.



LEFT: With a smile and a creeping tear, the Best Girl Citizen, Mary Hemphill, gives a farewell speech to the Class of 1955 and the student body. David Beer, Best Boy Citizen, and members of the National Honor Society listen attentively to the address. This is Recognition Day, June 3.

RIGHT: Mr. Lester Williams, track coach, places a letter honor blanket on Wilbur Davis for his outstanding work in three sports.

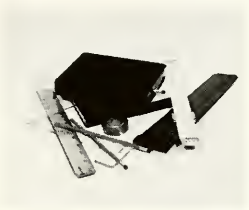
WE STUDY, REALLY WE DO

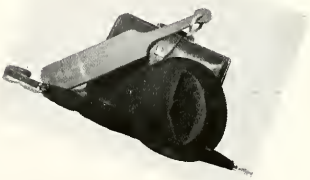
Thanks, You Adults, for Lots of Help

CRAMMING for a big test next period or simply learning tomorrow's lesson, everyone is hard at work in the study hall.



FROM EARLY morning until evening, they are in their rooms, hard at work. At club meetings, at basketball games, at pep sessions, at dances, they serve the school. Of course you know whom I am talking about—our unexcelled teachers. Did you ever think what Central would be like without them? The teachers offer me wonderful training within the classroom. And they teach me many lessons not found in books, through counseling, example, and individual help on many problems and aspirations. They make me feel that there is no unimportant pupil. When I think of Central, I think of my teachers. After I graduate, I shall continue to remember my teachers.

Faculty



AARON T. LINDLEY

AARON T. LINDLEY — Superintendent of Schools. Earlham. A.B.: Butler University, M.S.: Columbia. Purdue, Chicago, and Northwestern Universities, graduate study. Came in 1952.

OUR SUPERINTENDENT, Mr. Lindley, is a genial man who is much in earnest about boosting and building the school system of Fort Wayne. From his office across the street he views with pride Central's many accomplishments and wishes her graduates the very best in their chosen careers. We feel he is a part of Central.

PAUL SPULLER

PAUL SPULLER — Principal. Ball State Teachers College. B.S.: Indiana University, M.S.: Northwestern University, graduate work. Came in 1954.

OUR PRINCIPAL, Mr. Spuller, is a true Centralite. Among his other very important duties he attends many of Central's dances, ball games, banquets, concerts, and club meetings. He enjoys the activities of the pupils and joins the fun. He may be found at Central almost anytime, day or night, at work for his school.

Adults Befriend, Aid

PROBLEMS! Every pupil who enters Central at one time or another has this word come up. This is where our adults at Central come in handy. When a course problem is puzzling us, our guidance director helps. When we have a special interest in school betterment, Mr. Spuller helps us. Mr. Lindley, who knows all about Central, solves many different kinds of school problems. Any of the teachers will gladly help solve our problems. And what would we do without the cooks who prepare our lunches for us in the cafeteria every day? and every night

MISS MERIBAH INGHAM, dean of girls, helps many girls in daily counselling.

Mr. Aaron T. Lindley, the superintendent of schools, considers a point of school policy.

Pupils of Central

when we have all gone home, there are the janitors, sweeping and cleaning for the next day. These people and all the other Central adults, by helping all the pupils with special needs, make our school the best in Indiana.

At Home, at School, Ever Alert to Help

"PROGRESS Through Action for Better Homes, Schools, and Communities" was the general theme of the Central PTA. The family potluck on October 10 drew a good crowd for good food and mixer games afterward. Some of the other highlights of the year were the bake sale, Senior Banquet, Back-to-School Day, American Education Week observance, teas, candy sales, and rummage sales. Mr. Robert Zimmerman showed slides of the 1948 Olympics at the May meeting. The new officers were also installed at this meeting. The Parent Education group, formerly the study group, had as their theme, "For a Lifetime of Mental Health."

Parents, Teachers Like School, Too

Talented 'Doodlers'

SKETCHING, ceramics, lettering, postermaking, figure fashion, and interior decorating are five fields in which the Art Department specializes. Many pupils have made their careers in teaching, advertising, gift wrapping, exterior decorating, and interior decorating after majoring in art in high school. Our artists have enlivened Central with their wonderful art work. The best of equipment aids our pupils in their work.

CREATIVE FINGER TIPS — TOP: Miss Acker's first-hour class is working in creative embroidery. MIDDLE: Painting the statue of Lincoln in the center hall of the New Building are Carole Levy, Brenda Leonard, and Beverly Huss. BOTTOM: Carolyn Bradley, Jerome Dickey, Carol Vodde (C.C.), and Brenda Leonard are making mosaics of broken glass and cement.

HERE'S HOW—Melvin Mueller, Jack Diehm, Ed Cowan, and Don Chivington are shaping a guide for an electric saw.

Industry to Boom in Future

ALMOST every boy that walks through the doors of Central takes at least one semester of industrial arts. And many of the industrial arts pupils have, since graduating, succeeded in all types of work in and near Fort Wayne. Industrial arts build toward effective utilization and appreciation of the materials, processes, services, and products of business and industry. Central High School courses of industrial arts are auto mechanics, drafting, electricity, machine shop, welding and woodworking, a very complete offering. Central boys are indeed fortunate to take part in these classes.

HEAT AND METAL — A beginning welding class is welding sheet metal with gasoline torches.

HOUSE PLANS—In a Drawing 6 class, Gerry Knox, Don Biddle, David Guenther, and Ralph Ohnesorge are drawing plans for a house.

SKILLED HANDS make expert craftsmen: Darryl Wasson, Dale Tyndall, Richard Burnett and other students are learning how to construct surf boards in an advanced woodworking class.

In Our Shops You Learn to 'Do It Yourself'

HANDLING TOOLS is an art for our skilled shop boys. They learn much in the field of automation by utilizing the shop laboratories and classes which are here to give them the best in mechanical education. Modern shop laboratories with the latest up-to-date equipment and skilled and educated instructors train their boys with all the mechanical background needed. The various phases of the industrial arts courses are: Auto, machine, welding, electricity, drafting, and wood working, pattern and cabinet making, and home building. A student receives a vast and immeasurable supply of instruction and information which enables him to hold a specialized job in any of the related fields. Industrial Arts offers a vocational educational program which enables the student to specialize in any one field and take as much as three hours a day of one subject. Central has the largest, complete field of Industrial Arts of any high school in the Fort Wayne area. In the past years, 25 boys of Central shops have placed in the Henry Ford National Competition Contest. This is held for boys who wish to enter a project to be judged nationally. The boys get a touch of what the work will be like when they graduate and move into the advanced fields.

Future Homemakers

HOW to live at home is always in consideration, and our school helps to meet this problem. Because our girls will spend most of their lives in the home, some of the school day for the home economics student is devoted to homemaking. Experiences in gracious living are part of these lessons, too. Some of the phases of the home economics course are child care, family relations, home management, sewing, and food preparation. This course helps pupils in personal growth and development.

LEARNING HOMEMAKING—TOP: In a class project, these girls observe the reactions of children with new toys. Henrietta Collins, Carol Smith, Margaret Jacobs. Sandra Lykins, Penny Bocock, Betty Ott. Standing—Mary Franklin, Sharon Tobias, Doris Wilson, Ruth Fairfield, Bonnie Burchard. MIDDLE: Kay Bradtmiller, Beverly Tabar, Pat Click, Carol Levy, and Betty Newman eat a meal which they planned and prepared. BOTTOM: A home economics class observe Dick DeArmand, as he practices rules of politeness with Janet Warrick, in a family relations class.

INSIDE STORY—Bob Smith points out the digestive organs to Betty Rowe, JoAnn Padgett, Frank Smith, and Judy Rinehart in the fourth period health class.

Here's to Your Health

HEALTH AND SAFETY education is designed to instruct and stimulate youth so that they may conserve, improve, and protect their health. Visual aids, movies, charts, dummies, and actual products are employed in the procedure of the health program. The study of this subject is necessary in maintaining good health and in assuring a longer and better life in the home and surrounding community. Pupils acquire new habits and learn safety measures to enrich their lives. Our health program at Central is one that prepares for physical and mental happiness. All boys and girls enroll in health classes. Occasionally students are so inspired in health classes that their individual interests turn to medicine and the idea of helping the needy.

English Basic to Our Philosophy and Culture

IT HAS been said that those that don't enjoy English don't enjoy living. Maybe if you recall your English classes, you remember having panel discussions, devotions at Parent Teachers Association meetings, plays in class, reading poetry aloud, and many other activities. Also in English class you learn not only to read but also to analyze and understand what you read, you learn to write and spell, and to increase your vocabulary. English not only pertains to literature, spelling, and grammar, but also to a better understanding of people, places, and opinions. As the semesters go by you learn the tragic lives of authors; going along with the idea of learning about authors, you learn what poetry is and what its purpose is. Can you remember your study of William Shakespeare's Macbeth and Julius Caesar, George Elliot's Silas Marner, Homer's Odyssey, and Carl Sandburg's Abraham Lincoln? While in English class you not only study grammar, but you study, in literature, the philosophy of living. When you leave your English class and Central, you will always remember your moments during these classes. In Central's English classes you have a chance to see our cultural heritage in perspective.

BOTTOM LEFT: An English 3j class is learning how to read galley proofs and compare them with the copy in a journalism lesson.

COMPARING and contrasting the American flag with the French flag in a first year French class are Sonia Bohde, Bill Isenhour, Don Humbert, Deanna Cook and Rosemary Harris.

Bilingual, These Folks

"DO YOU speak French?" and "Time is flying" are familiar phrases flung around in the beginning foreign language classes daily. French and Latin help the student to understand the lives and customs of people in our neighboring lands and develop a better understanding for a cultural and well-rounded life.

ABOVE: Learning to tell time in French 1 are Irene Smith, Mabelline Williams, Peggy Fleischman, Shirley Morton, and Jack Conrad.

Math Provokes Thinking

ALL OF us have taken mathematics sometime during our school life. Mathematics is essential to our life. It gives the pupil mathematical knowledge necessary for the ordinary affairs of his daily life. We may choose either general math or algebra. If we wish to have more mathematical knowledge we may take geometry, advanced algebra, and solid geometry; in the senior year there is opportunity to take college algebra and trigonometry. Central is very fortunate to have our many well-experienced math teachers, who have sent winning pupils to state math contests.

PUZZLES SOLVED — TOP: Miss Plumanns, Judy Nuzum, Beverly Zimmerman, and Robert Fawley watch as Dick Jantz shows how a geometric problem is worked. MIDDLE: Mr. McNeely is showing Barbara Udalych, Sidnette Simmons, and Jack Crawford how to solve an algebra equation. BOTTOM: Dick Norris, Ken Brown, and Jerry Scheiman demonstrate to the class how a slide rule is used in mathematics.

Journeys, Charts, Maps Enliven Social Studies

"HAND ME the paste," "Don't drop that little clipping, it belongs to the mayor's speech acceptance." What is this all about? It's some of our students working on their election scrapbooks in government class. Central's social studies include Indiana history, freshman civics, freshman orientation, economics, government, sociology, world history, and United States history. This department gives us information on our nation's position in world affairs, makes us better informed on world affairs so that we may take a place in the nation's work, gives information on past historical happenings to keep the pupil informed on the present and future world affairs. The government classes take special trips to see our government in action. They visit the city hall, post office, court house, and other interesting places. In our social studies panel discussions are fun and yet very educational. They practice what they learn in mock trials each year given by the Anthony Wayne Club, a history club. The use of maps, charts, special documents, and records and films of actual events and voices are also helpful in the social studies courses. The students learn of how our great country, America, got its beginning and how men fought in state and territorial assemblies and on battlefields for the rights and laws to govern them according to their beliefs.

ABOVE: In the county clerk's office at the courthouse. Mr. Robert Hawkins, county clerk, is explaining to a government class the job of a county clerk.

LEFT: Interested in their studies, Norm Beer is showing the Saar Basin to Janice Ebersole, Darla Kesler, and Larry Radabaugh, in world history class.

BELOW: Mr. Hawkins, is explaining to Herb Matthias, Peggy Fleischman, Sandra Danner, Gerald Scheiman, and Carla Linker a photostatic record of a public document.

Three Roads to Culture

THE ENJOYMENT of writing, speaking, and reading is a privilege of all American citizens. In order to speak and express oneself with ability, the library provides an accurate and well-rounded background in every subject. Journalism is basic education needed in order to put important thoughts with their meanings on paper. To relay these thoughts that are on paper, speech work is necessary. Each of these subjects, speech, journalism, and the library is dependent upon the other.

FINDING FACTS — TOP: Leafing through the dictionaries in the library are Gay Badders and Kay Bradtmiller. At the files we find Guyla Teague, and at the table, students work hard to get the necessary reading references for their assigned work. MIDDLE: Dorothy Mertz, Ron Mapes, Carol Schiemann, Max DeVoe, and Leta Goodson record a radio script in speech class. BOTTOM: Studying the weekly assignments in a journalism class are Richard Kelley, Marcia Jones, Barbara Baker, Leila Stearns and Marilyn Dare.

AT WORK: The formula for sulfur dioxide is sulfur plus oxygen yields sulfur dioxide. Prove this! say Judy Ember, Ken Brown, Carol Hawk, Wesley Lamboley, and Glenn Talley as they mix the compound.

Scientists Discover All

"CHEEP, CHEEP!" No, this is not a farm but an advanced biology room. The peep of newly hatched chicks did seem surprising in a high school, but there is a good reason. At the annual Science Fair, to be held at Purdue University, there were several students from Central who chose to study the embryology of a chicken and allowed a few eggs to hatch into yellow, fluffy balls of life. In all science classes, students exhibit their achievements at the Fair. The classes of chemistry, physics, biology, physical geography, meteorology, physical science and advanced biology all help to teach the students an appreciation of nature and its effect on everyday life.

Miss Heal's beginning seventh hour class of shorthand frantically write to keep up with their daily assignments.

Up and Down, Loop and Around, We Go!

SO IT GOES in shorthand. In the business rooms, the hopeful secretaries of tomorrow's business world learn to take dictation, translate, and type the notes into correct letter form. They also learn how to file, how to dress, and how to conduct themselves in an office. The three courses in the business department are stenographic, clerical, and general. All pupils of the business courses take junior business in their freshman year and bookkeeping in their sophomore year. They may then learn which type of work they are best suited for and which type of work they are likely to succeed in. The business department gives general information for daily life, besides the training for specific jobs. The purpose of the stenographic branch is to place emphasis on shorthand and typewriting, which trains secretaries for particular jobs. The clerical branch works mostly in general office work, which includes particular skill in typewriting, filing, business arithmetic, and general office procedures. They do not take shorthand. The general course especially trains pupils on how to meet people, how to sell, and how to get along with people behind the counter.

MANY FACES, MANY TYPES

Peppy Pals Pull for Central Tigers

PEP SESSION this morning! Enthusiastic underclassmen lustily cheer as exhorted by the cheerleaders.

AS YOU walk through these halls of Central, have you ever thought of what differences in racial, religious, and nationality background we have here? Central can be proud of the variety of boys and girls attending her school. It gives me a chance to make friends with all 1,600. Under Central's roof I can be proud to say all people are equal. The situation is to my advantage. As you can see, all of us get along fine together and so prove that people can live together and that every boy or girl stands on his own feet. Of this Central can be really proud. This is my school and everyone has a place in it.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY 1956

HAPPY smiles, tears, and looks of surprise marked the awarding of the National Honor Society pins to the top 15 per cent of the Senior Class April 20 before an assemblage of the entire high school. The individuals rank high in scholarship, service, character, and leadership. To place on the four-year honor roll, announced in the same program, seniors must have 90 per cent or higher average for their high school careers. One must work hard to reach these goals of membership in the Honor Society and the four-year honor roll.

THAT CENTRAL SPIRIT

Beat' em Fair! Beat 'em Square!

UP IN THE AIR—With the greatest of ease, our cheerleaders arouse the spirit of Central fans and team at the Coliseum.

"BEAT 'EM TIGERS, beat 'em!" So cheer the cheerleaders and the fans boosting the team's morale and spirit. I yelled with the rest of the fans to do my little part. I've been to Central's basketball games and know what a tremendous roar is made by the fans when one of our boys makes a needed basket. Through smiles and tears the cheerleaders and I faithfully and proudly sing "Central Dear Central," whether it is victory or defeat. I think all sports are wonderful for all whether they play the game or watch. I have found, by participating in sports games, the players develop sportsmanship and a good outlook on life. This is Central Spirit.

Basketeers Play Hard, Show Fair Season

THE CENTRAL Tigers were a slow starting team this year, but caught on very quickly. The Tigers lost to Crispus Attucks, Elmhurst, Central Catholic, and Anderson before they caught fire and whipped a highly regarded Concordia team. The Tigers knocked off some mighty fine ball teams after beating the Cadets. They beat a good North Side team and a very scrappy Decatur team. One of the big thrills of the 55-56 basketball season was beating the South Side Archers by four points in a nip and tuck battle. The Tigers had an overall record of eight wins and 13 losses, not bad at all for the slow start they had. The team was lead in scoring by John Kelso, with Fred Meeks and Ernie Romanowski leading a great defensive attack. The bench strength came in handy many of the times during the season. With only two seniors leaving the team this year, the Tiger fans look for a great 1956-57 season.

FRESHMEN — Coach Bob Armstrong guards Melvin Patrick while teaching guarding maneuvers to the freshmen squad. KNEELING: Jim Snyder, Paul Mays, Larry Haller, Eddie Shepherd, and Dickie Ritchie. STANDING: Lawrence Crosby, Charles Irvin, Bill Boyd, Jesse Ross, and Don Linton.

BEN HAWKINS, Number 43, bats a rebound out of the hand of two Crispus Attucks players in the Nov. 18 duel. Forward—one year varsity.

FRANK SIDWELL, reliable sophomore, leaps high and shoots his favorite arc hand push shot in practice session. Guard—one year varsity.

Hit That Basket! Sink It Tigers, Sink It!

FRED MEEKS, Number 55, goes for a fast lay-up in the South Side game. Forward — three years varsity.

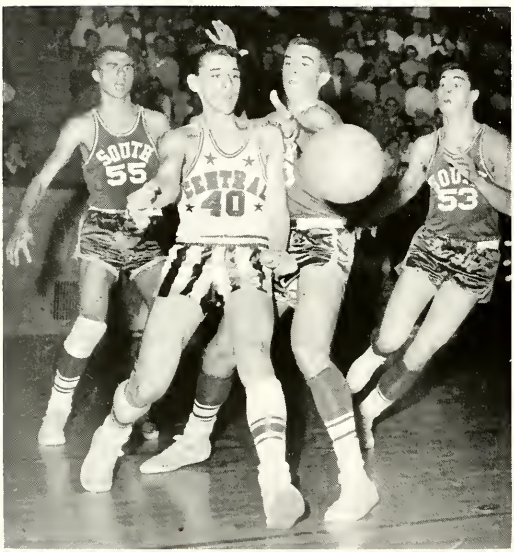
BOB MILLS jumps and pushes a one hander against North Side. Forward — one year varsity.

FOR A SLOW start our team did a great job this year. With only John, Ernie, Fred, and Bill returning from last year, Central's team had to be remade. With the expert coaching of Mr. Banet and the boys eagerness to learn, our Tiger team proved a serious tourney threat. We also proved our motto, Central can if Central will.

JOHN KELSO jumps for a lay-up in the North Side game in a spirited contest. Center—two years varsity.

ERNIE ROMANOWSKI goes up for a close-in shot in game against Concordia. Guard—two years varsity.

Hardwood Bengals Give Fans Thrills



NORM BEER passes the ball while surrounded by South Side players along the endline. Forward—one year varsity.

FRANK SMITH, 45, fights hard for a rebound during a City Series clash with North Side. Guard—one year varsity.

BOB YOUNG, forward, one year of varsity, jumps for a hook shot during a practice game.

BILL KNEPPER, forward, two years of varsity, stretches high into the rafters to bring down a rebound in another practice session.

WILLIE WARE, guard, one year of varsity, leaps high into the air to lay up the ball in the Crispus Attuck game on Nov. 18.

THARNELL HOLLINS, forward, one year of varsity, jumps and pushes a one-hander in a practice session in the gym.

1955 Season Nets 4-4-1

CENTRAL'S CLEATFOOTED Snitzmen really poured it on this year as they turned in a 4 won, 4 lost, and 1 tie record. However. all the games that Central lost were by one touchdown or less and this record doesn't show the actual ability of the Fighting Blue. Central opened the first game of the season at Marion on their field. Marion squeezed by them in a close one, 26-19. Their next game. however, was a different story and Central won 25-6 over New Castle. Following this game with Central Catholic was a close one with Central scoring in the last minute of the game for a 18-12 victory. The Tigers whipped South Side 49-13. North Side beat us by 2 points in a heartbreaker which lost us the City Crown. In the next encounter, our last home game, we beat Huntington 20-13. In our last three games away we played Elkhart to a 14-14 stalemate, Richmond downed us 20-13, and then Muncie Central beat us in our final game on the extra point, 7-6. Central had a good all-round team with plenty of weight and a fast backfield. Central placed Meeks at end, Maharrey at half, Cowan at fullback, Romanowski at quarterback, and Hogan at guard on the All-City Football team.

'Littlemen' Record 3-4

BOY! THAT guy is going to be a great quarterback when he gets a little more experience behind him. These are the thoughts of many fans when they come out to see some great plays made at a reserve football game. The reserve football team of '55, kept up the hopes of "Snitz" Snider, varsity football coach, of having a good fast and rough team for the next two or three years. The reserve team is made up of freshmen and sophomore boys, getting the experience necessary for making the Mighty Tiger team. The reserves play all the city schools and two out-of-town teams. Some of the outstanding players on this year's reserve team were Norm Beer, Mike Altekruse, Ed Emenhiser, Melvin Patrick, and Ed Russell, outstanding in the backfield. Bill Baldwin, Roger Ember, Jim Goldsmith were the stand-outs on the line. Coached by Bob Armstrong and Murray Mendenhall, the team compiled a fine record of 3 wins and 4 losses, coming back as a threat at the end of the season. Central beat South Side, Concordia, and Huntington. North Side and Central Catholic each handed them two defeats during the season, although they won by only one touchdown each game.

'Rough, Tough, Ready'

THE MIGHTY Tiger gridmen fought hard, played well, and ended a season with thoughts of great accomplishments in their football career. Sixteen senior Tigers marched off the field to play high school football no more. Four great years of drills, practices, and hard playing under expert and talented coaching, were ended. Team work and self confidence were gained but the thought of leaving made lumps rise in their throats. Was it worth it? Did we accomplish our goal? Jackets, letters, trophies, and honors were received. Good luck and encouraging remarks were left for the guys who would be filling their places in 1956-57.

Our Fleet-footed Men Fly

COACH Pete Williams whipped another fine cross country team into shape for another winning season. The long distance men rang up a 6 won, 2 lost record for Central, losing only to North Side and Marion. Central had a very fast team with many of the boys breaking the 11-minute mark. On the whole our team this year was balanced pretty evenly, but Kelso stood out as the most consistent runner for Central. Central in the first two encounters won over Concordia 50-15 and South Side 31-28. After this we lost meets with the very close scores, 31-28 and 35-27. Central in the Sectional tied for second place. And the team won 17th place in State to round off a terrific season of play. Central's team this year was composed of mostly underclassmen and juniors, leaving a very strong team for next year's meets.

Speedy Boys, New Records Mark '55 Track Season

SPEEDY boys and good records marked the 1955 track season for Mr. Lester "Pete" Williams, track coach, and his team. The team had a record of eight wins and three defeats. They took third in sectionals and tenth in state. Two records were set, one in the mile relay, and one in the shot put. Fred Meeks, John Kelso, Jack Wims, and Jerry Burch ran the mile relay in 3:27.5. Wilbur Davis set a new record in the shot put, 52 feet 7 inches. John Flowers did a very fine job in the high jump, and John Kelso, just a freshman, turned in a fast time in the 440-yard dash. The prospects for 1956 look even better, with a group of talented freshmen coming up, and just three boys leaving from last year's team. Mr. Williams said, "In 1958 the track team will not lose a meet."

Healthful Sports for Our Gals . . .

A FLIP A FLOP and back on her toes, and where she lands, nobody knows. GAA is just like this too, that is, in tumbling season. The Girls Athletic Association girls have lots of vim and vigor when it comes to tumbling, kinball, swimming, basketball, dancing, and softball. This club has a great purpose for each person, to teach leadership, fellowship, and sportsmanship. Also it helps in social activities around school and elsewhere. It is one of the most active organizations at Central with its 33 members, who meet as a group every third Wednesday of each month with their advisor, Miss Lenna Arnold. The officers of the club are Carol Smith, president, Mildred Gerdom, vice-president, Carol Owens, secretary, and Jessie Minor, point recorder. These girls have done a great job this year with their Christmas party and annual banquet. The banquet is complete with good food, fun, and honor for the most deserving. Several awards are given during the year, such as the Hardiek Trophy to the sportsmanship winner, the Meier Trophy to the team winning the basketball tournament, the Bixby Trophy to the team winning the softball tournament, the Mueller Trophy to a girl showing ability in tumbling, the Fleckenstein Trophy to the best swimmer, and the Merit Plaque to a girl for service to the club. Another event of note is the fall picnic, an event for all members. A candy sale was an event of this school year. Miss "Sis" Arnold held a class with the help of the GAA girls to teach boys and girls going to or wishing to go to the Junior Prom, how to dance and feel at ease.

GRACEFULLY now! Eager girls try to learn new steps as Virginia sets the example.

GAA Girls Dance for Relaxation and Grace

GAA has a busy schedule all through the school year. From September to January the girls play volleyball, kinball, and basketball. They also set up tournaments just like our big sports. The three sports are divided into six week sessions like the grading periods. Kinball is a combination of football, basketball, and soccer. From January to June the girls participate in tumbling, square dancing, tap dancing, softball, and swimming. In tumbling the girls learn how to do handstands, pyramids and other unusual stunts. Tap dancing teaches them rhythm, coordination, and the basic steps of tap dancing. Swimming can be enjoyed by the girls through the use of the pool at North Side High School. Swimming is available in ten week sessions. A well planned program that gains the interest of many girls at Central is that of the CGAA.

EVERYONE in a straight line. Now all together, go! Repeat all of the new dance steps that we've learned so far!

TAP, TAP! Miss Adams, instructor, and Mildred Gerdom, senior, watch girls prepare to dance in GAA tap dancing class.

. . . More Fun in GAA!

TOP LEFT: Take a peep sometime! See the graceful sights which the girls of GAA present when dancing! Here the girls are taking a lesson. TOP RIGHT: Swing your partner! The mood is changed when the girls fly into a square dance. RIGHT: Watch your foot! Some GAA girls have to be quite brave all of a sudden while they are crossing the St. Mary's at Foster Park. THE FACULTY "wowed 'em" in their pre-tourney pep session when they showed us pupils—to our delight—how we look to our teachers all the time. "Best of the year!" said everybody, in regard to this pep session.

DISMISSAL time and time to go home, but you can still hear the busy chatter of pupils congregated in various rooms. Who could be silly enough to stay after school when they don't have to? What is the big attraction? Boy! Look at those boys with the ear phones on. They must be in the Radio Club. Sure looks like fun. There go the FBLA girls on a field trip. That would sure be interesting! Oh! I see by the sign that the Art Club is having a dance Friday night. I can't miss that one. The teachers, too, meet and plan unusual events — like the faculty pep session that everyone just loved! Well, I'll see you later. I have a Math Club meeting now.

Boys Find High Standards, Fun, in Hi-Y Meets

SWIMMING AT the YMCA, special door-to-door projects, and character and body building projects are all a part of the Hi-Y Club program. The Hi-Y is in its first year and has got off to a great start. It was organized to bring out the true character, respect of fellow man, and the responsibility of young men. Their program is a three-fold plan to build the physical, mental, and spiritual make-up of these young men. The organization is affiliated with the state and National Hi-Y, and is the high school division of the Young Men's Christian Association. The meetings, which are on the first and third Mondays every month, were followed by short movies or talks by guest speakers. The officers of the club are Jerry Kirk, president; Ron Keck, vice-president; Bob Smith, secretary-treasurer; and Kyle Breedlove, sergeant-at-arms.

Club for Athletes

The Varsity Club, the newest club in Central, was organized this year to create among the varsity sports members a better and closer social relationship. The club undertook several projects this year. Among them was, combined with Student Council, a magazine drive for the purpose of raising money to beautify the school lawns. Varsity Club was also responsible for the Arbor Day presentation to the school, and for the new dancing system in the gym for noon recreation, a program well regarded by many pupils. Mr. Murray Mendenhall is advisor.

Romans Live Again

"I KNOW what this sign on the coin means in Latin." Yes, aren't we proud when we know a foreign language! Latin Club puts life into the language, by singing Latin songs, occasionally playing games with Latin words, and acting out stories, and seeing travel pictures. This helps in understanding Latin better and also in creating more interest. The president of the club is Vonda Hunt, the vice-president, Jessie Minor, and the secretary, Marjorie Honeick. Miss Baumgartner is the advisor. There were a planned Christmas party and potluck, and many other activities.

At Your Service!

HAVE YOU ever wondered who takes care of absence slips? Or who takes care of the extra work in the way of little jobs, such as filing, checking books, running notes? Service workers relieve teachers of such minor jobs, so that teachers may devote more time to preparing lessons, grading papers, and handling special problems. These workers get no pay, except points which apply to pins awarded at the end of the year. This is a Central club that never meets, but works every day. Pupils gain satisfaction from knowing that their efforts help to make a better school.

Silver Pins To Gold

"WHAT FUN and relaxation!" say members of the Press Club. To become a member and receive a silver pin, one must first be a publications worker for a year and earn 3,000 points. With satisfactory work of an additional year, one may receive a gold pin. The Club sponsors the annual May Breakfast, when the seniors prepare the bacon and eggs, and the Publications Banquet, when the seniors are honored and new staff members named. Both initiation meetings were held at the home of Mr. Fleck this year. Mr. Dellinger is advisor to the Club. Officers are Connie Geiger, president; Rita Sue Judy, vice-president; and Oonagh Hunter, secretary-treasurer.

GOOD LUCK—Jack Green, Jan Stine, Jack Ebersole, Byron Canaan shake for luck in the Student Council election, all candidates for president. May the best man win!

SAFETY FIRST—Discussing the best places to mount safety posters are David Gunther, Mike Altekruse, Alex Alexandrow, and Mary Ann Kelsey. David Phillips selects the posters.

Lots of Projects All Year for Student Council

"MEETING will now come to order." These are the words used by Jan Stine, Student Council president, every Monday morning in the Lewis Room, when he calls the Student Council Meeting to order. The Student Council is one of the older clubs at Central, and is said to be the most representative club. The Student Council has several projects to do each year, such as trophy polishing, a clean-up week, an annual dance, and the responsibility of getting the Christmas basket program ready. The Council promoted the Spotlight sales drive from the interest standpoint of the second semester and definitely helped the Spotlight to get its necessary 1200 sales.

UP IT GOES—Mary Ann Kelsey, David Phillips, and David Gunther hang the posters as Mike Altekruse and Sue Croghan select the next poster. Safety was one project for the year.

OFFICERS CONFER—Jack Green, vice-president, Jan Stine, president, Kay Walda, secretary, and Mike Altekruse, sergeant-at-arms, are discussing plans for the next project.

CHAIN GANG—Byron Canaan is instructing Ila Ake, Bill Griffith, Jan Stine, Jerry Keener, Janice Ebersole and Barney Bell on how to break the ground for grass planting.

Lots of Projects

HIGHLIGHTS of the year for the Student Council were the Student Council State Convention, Safety Week, Courtesy Week, and their annual banquet. Central sent 18 representatives to the State Convention at Richmond this year. The Council sponsored a Courtesy Week in which Mr. and Miss Courtesy of the year were chosen by the student body. The Student Council had a wonderful banquet again with all of the trimmings. Jan Stine, senior, did a fine job as president this year.

MIDDLE: Mr. Estal Smuts is presenting a safety certificate to Jan Stine, president, while Mike Altekruse, Kay Walda, Jack Greene, Mr. Aaron Still, Mr. Paul Bienz and Mr. Paul Spuller explain its meaning.

IT'S worth it to have a little egg in your hair to get into the Anthony Wayne Club. Every semester the Anthony Wayne Club has its festive initiation. Cold spaghetti, cracked eggs, and spooky noises greet the initiates from behind their blindfolds. Each new member must have a "B" average in World, Indiana, or U. S. history that he is now taking or has taken. Each initiate is to utter no other words except the motto he is given on initiation day. He must visit and give a report on his given subject and landmark in the vicinity of Fort Wayne. Every year the club takes a trip to some historical spot in the nation. This year the club took a trip to Washington, D. C., and to historical spots in its vicinity. The club has many educational speakers and trips throughout the year besides the one big trip. Its membership is one of the largest of any of the clubs in Central. Organized and sponsored by Mr. Clifford Richards, Anthony Wayne has done much to stimulate interest in history and things historical. Meetings are every two weeks, one meeting after school, and the next at night.

MISS ACKER is showing Brenda Leonard the beautiful designs which can be made in textile painting.

They Find Beauty At Their Fingertips

AS YOU walk into the art room it's like walking into a different world with all of the magnificent colors of the drawings, paintings, and ceramics. The Art Club has made Central a more enjoyable place in which to be in the past years. At Christmas time gay decorations adorn the center hall including an enormous Christmas tree. The club is also responsible for keeping the alumni file up-to-date and attractively decorated. Their two big events of the year are their trip to either Toledo, Detroit, Canada, or Chicago, and their party for art pupils. The Art Club was organized in 1930 to give its members a better appreciation of the world of art. The advisors are Miss Loretta Acker and Miss Blanche Hutto.

YULETIDE ART — James Jackson, Linda Brooks, Beverly Steller, and Richard Greene are decorating the stairways of Central with scented pine bough for the joyous holidays.

FOR INSPECTION — Bill Lamont, Henry Goodson, and Jerry Metz are showing Miss Blanche Hutto their colorful artistic drawings.

Now What Goes on

WONDERFUL! Magnificent! Best play I've ever seen! These are some of the comments one might hear during and after a play given at Central. "Lights, places, curtain!" Mrs. Helen Lee has carefully made up the characters to fit their parts and everyone nervously takes his place before she gives the signal for the curtain to rise. Most of the pupils do not realize the work that goes into the producing of a play unless they have experienced it. The students and their director spend many hours rehearsing, practicing their lines, creating their characterization.

ACTIVE CREW—RIGHT: Publicity—Bill Griffith, Bill Knepper, and Steve Rydell are advertising by means of gun point the play "Abe Lincoln in Illinois." CENTER: Lights—Phillip Caudill and Bill Springer set the lights for the starting performance. BOTTOM LEFT: Back Stage—Miss Connie Standish, assistant dramatics director, is giving to the stage manager, Della Reed and the stage crew, Phillip Caudill, Herb Matthias, Bill Springer, Margaret Nelson, and Janet Case directions for coming play. BOTTOM RIGHT: Costuming—Jan Stine and Bill Baldwin put on their costumes while Bill Griffith gets into characterization.

Behind the Scenes?

and doing many other jobs that go into the making of a play, besides their regular homework. Our student players at Central meet Monday through Thursday nights for play rehearsals. The student players have no officers. Some of the special work projects of the year were: "Mr. Peepers," starring Jan Stine, "A Man Called Peter," starring Jack Ebersole; and "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," also starring Jack Ebersole. It's always a good play on the Central stage, and there is always a good cast to produce the best in dramatics.

Friendship Girls Learn to Face Life Squarely

TEACHING the girls to face life squarely, to find and give their best, and to aid in developing themselves mentally, spiritually, and socially, is the purpose of the Friendship Club. LaDonna Gruber is now presiding president. For the special project this year they sold senior name cards. The special social highlights of the year are the Y-Teen Tournament Twirl, the Christmas party, and the Freshman Coke Party. Friendship Club takes part in the annual YWCA "Hanging of the Greens" ceremonial which opens the official Christmas season. Our busy gals sent a scrapbook to India describing brilliantly in words and pictures of school life, government units, parks, homelife, and worship in Fort Wayne, as a world Fellowship project. Friendship Club is one of the oldest clubs in Central.

Busy in Business

DO YOU remember the dance, "Snowman Swirl," sponsored by the Future Business Leaders of America on February 3? Every year the FBLA has a Christmas party with exchange of gifts, and also each year during National Secretaries' Week they invite the alumni of the Business Department to a reception in their honor. The FBLA meets once a month for business, some recreation, and then refreshments. New officers are elected each semester.

Buggy but Scholarly

BIOLOGY CLUB, whose members are science and nature enthusiasts, has been very active this year. They brought projects to the Science Fair in March and so gained recognition for Central. This spring the club planned and made a tour to Chicago, visiting the Field Museum and other points of scientific interest. They spent many hours on field projects on the acres owned by Miss Spangler. Although the members spend many hours on projects, they also find time to play games at meetings.

NFL Honors Speakers

TO ACHIEVE membership in NFL is the goal set by all speech students. The club, organized in 1929, promotes speech activities and honors excellence in the field of expression. The club now has 20 members. Some of the activities of the club, besides speech contests, are to sponsor the annual vaudeville and a speech dance. National Forensic League supplies speakers for clubs, classes, radio, and television programs, pep sessions, and speakers for community activities. Officers are president, Shirley Shroyer; vice-president, DonEtte Bushaw; and secretary, Bona Cress.

WORK, but fun in our Library Service Club! Service helpers assist Mrs. Dorothy Vallance in the many tasks involved to run our library. Some of the highlights of Service Club that bring together the service workers are parties, interest in literature, a Christmas party, and a spring outing. On Letter Day members having sufficient points receive honor awards. Any student is eligible whose interest, time, and ability warrant such activity. The Library Service workers assist other pupils in the library.

Clever Musicians

THIRTY-EIGHT musicians from the Concert Band and the Orchestra make up one of Central's newer clubs, the Modern Music Masters, organized in 1952 by Mr. Elbert Stodden, advisor, for pupils with three semesters of Band, and an average of B—. The club promotes interest in music, particularly instrumental. A special project is sponsoring the NISBOVA piano and vocal contest in February. Another is attending the IMOA Convention in November. Guest speakers and instrumental artists appear at meetings.

Many Activities for the Band! Concerts,

MUSIC IS a part of Central, and it is traditional that we have a splendid band. The Band works very hard in keeping Central a happy school. The Band under the direction of Mr. Elbert Stodden arrives many mornings at 7:30 to practice and be ever ready to play at any pep-sessions where they are needed. They play at all of Central's home games and participate in three musical concerts, and for several social gatherings. The Band also plays a concert for different junior high and grade schools of the city to arouse their interest in music. Indeed they have done a great deal in keeping up the spirit of Central, and we are very proud to have such a great band. The Orchestra has grown in number and musicianship in the past few years at Central. They took part in the city-wide Music Festival, and also gave three music concerts for the student body and parents. Several individuals entered and won honors in the district and state music contests. Mr. Stodden has done a wonderful job in building the pupils' musical qualities, and Central is very happy to have such a fine teacher as he. Each year Mr. Stodden gives a sigh of grief when almost all of the whole band graduates, but only to find a score of new band members eager to learn. Central's marching band is one of the best in Fort Wayne. This takes much practice and long hot afternoons. The popular snack concert is another feature of the musical year.

The vocal groups have appeared in public on numerous occasions.

Up the Scale We Go

SINGERS join the Choir because they are interested in music and related fields. They love to sing and to learn about music. The Choir sang on many different occasions during this last year. A few of these occasions were Lenten services, Easter program, Christmas program, radio appearances, concerts for the student body and for parents, and banquets and church meetings. The Choir practices every day second period. Besides the main choir, there are many other groups which practice at other times. In the spring and fall of each year, the Choir has a picnic. They had a candy sale to help pay for their sweaters and other awards received by the students meriting them this year. Many individual honors were won at the District and State music contests also. There are beginning choir choruses for the beginning pupils. Boys Choir and Girls Choir are for students wishing to sing in special groups. All pupils from chorus classes are screened and then placed in Concert Choir. Central can well be proud of the Concert Choir.

IN A HUDDLE—Deanna Cook, Bona Cress, managing editors, and Rita Young, editor of the Spotlight, are planning the next issue with Mr. Fleck, advisor.

From Huddle to Layout: Spotlight Published

"STEP on that story." "Meet those deadlines." Such is often heard down in the "Salt Mines." If we were to follow a weekly pattern from the time the paper is born to when it is put to bed, we would find many people work to put out a weekly paper. A "huddle" is the first important step in planning an issue. On Thursday the managing editor, editor, and advisor check the tips and plan the issue two weeks away. On Friday the managing editor gives the plan to the respective editors, news, feature, and sports. By Monday morning the editors have their stories as assigned to the staff writers. After the assigning editor has read and checked the story for accuracy, it is given to the managing editor, who then reads the story and marks it off her plan. The story is then given to the desk editor, who writes a headline for the story. It is then given to the copy editor who reads it for grammatical errors, correct spelling, and correct style. The Spotlight is composed of two major staffs called Blue and White, alternating from week to week.

LET'S SEE THAT COPY — Marilyn Dare, copy editor, receives copy from four staff members, Jesse Minor, feature editor, Connie Geiger, sports editor, Rita Young, editor, and Judy Reese, desk editor. Now the issue is underway, and copy will go to the School Press to be set into type. Next comes the proof, and then the final layouts. On Friday —the Spotlight again! Editors-in-chief for the year were Rita Young, Bona Cress, and Deanna Cook.

EVERY WEEK — ABOVE: Coach Banet gives Sports Editors Jack Ebersole and Mike Altekruse some tips on coming basketball events. Co-workers at Work and at Play . . .

MORE FUN—All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, so it has been said. So would it also be in the publications office if there was nothing to do but work. To ease this situation the publication workers combine with the press Club and sponsor get-togethers for the staffs. The year starts off with a bang with a picnic at one of the parks on the first day of school. Throughout the year when the staffs change, the in-coming editor and manager are honored with a special cake-cutting. In May the staffs are buzzing with activity getting ready for the close of school, but the first day of May is the day set aside for the annual May Breakfast. This is when the seniors of the group show what they can do by cooking breakfast for the entire group and guests. This affair is held in the Lewis Room at 6 o'clock in the morning. Toward the end of May the annual banquet takes place. The seniors are honored at this meeting with the presentation of a carnation to each one, accompanied by a fitting poem as a tribute. After working on the staff for three years, a major senior is awarded with a blue letter sweater. The members of the respective staffs enjoy the informality of their work and all readily agree that it helps them to make friends of others who share in their common interests.

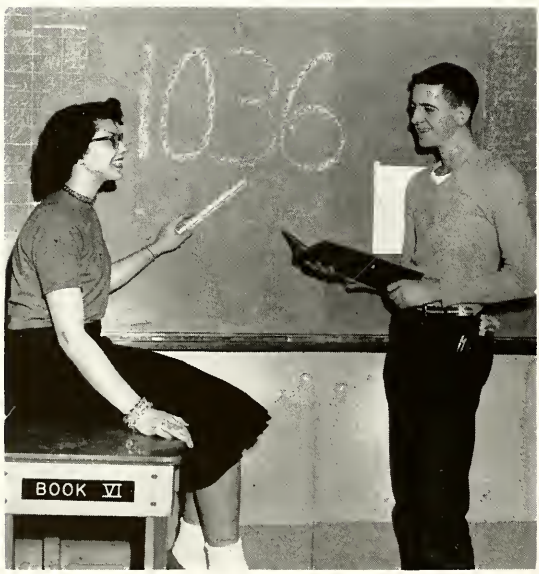
Ads, Sales, All Work of Business Staff

ABOVE: Sandra Danner, Virginia Graft, and Shirley Shroyer, managers, consider ways and means of meeting the Spotlight budget.

NEVER A dull moment while working on the Spotlight business staff! Getting ads, keeping records of the sales, ordering supplies, and paying bills are just a few of the many jobs that the students do every day of the week. The business staff is run entirely by the students with their advisor, Mr. Cleon Fleck. The manager directs the office manager, auditor, ad manager, records manager, sales manager, mailing manager, and distribution manager. The bookheads, along with the records manager, record and receive all the sales from each home room. They also fold the papers each week. Each Thursday night the mailing and distribution managers fold the papers for the student body to be given out in home rooms on Friday morning. They also get the papers ready to mail to other schools. The ad staff together with the auditor get ads for the paper, bill advertisers, make contracts, and make layouts for the ad pages.



ABOVE: Ann Gick, sales manager, and Jerry Tudor, records manager, are discussing how to raise the total number of Spotlight sales in the fall drive.

Caldronites Work Every

REX DEVOE
Editor

"HEY, MOM! Fix me two lunches this morning! I'm going to stay a little late at the Caldron office tonight and will probably get hungry." Yes, not just during school, but afterwards, too, the "Salt Mine" workers sacrifice much free time and after school hours so that the student body might have a fine Caldron. To make our yearbook the best possible, the staff works every day of the school year, and on vacations, too, while everyone else is resting and having fun. But there is much pride in our faces on Caldron Distribution Day, when we can see the finished product. The Caldron is a definite part of Central. It gives a complete account of the year's activities and work of the whole school. It takes time to build a yearbook, and it takes the entire school to make its publishing possible. Being on the staff is not all work and no play, as we have lots of fun on our annual fall picnic, the annual May Breakfast, and at many other after-school meetings. We get many opportunities to meet the many members of the student body and learn how to get along better with the public. Of the school population of 1600 pupils, 1450 yearbooks were sold this year. Publishing a yearbook is lots of fun and we love our work. Visit our staff some time, won't you?

PEP SESSION — Teachers were kids again when they put on a pre-tourney pep session for the kids—the best pep session of the year, everybody said. TOP: Standing is our faculty basketball squad plus a few others—"Farmer" Baughman, "Dribbling" Dornte, "Corny" Quance, "Spooky" Spuller, "Strutting" Still, "Bushy" Bushong, "Flashy" Feistkorn, "Muscles" Armstrong, "Batty" Banet, "Sniping" Snider. Sitting—"Wiggling" Wampole, "Mangy" Mendenhall, "Greasy" Griggs, "Brainy" Bienz, "Madman" McNeely, and "Droopy" Dellinger. What a basketball team? MIDDLE: Central's peppy chorus line, and in Burmudas, too. Left to right are Dancers Ingham, Pence, Ingham, Arnold, Jackson, Ridgway, Keep, Heal, and Conley. RIGHT: We see the cheering block behind this great team. Cheering in the front row are Mr. Clifford O'Brien, Miss Iva Spangler, Mr. Paul Dailey, and Miss Lenna Arnold.
